2. Today's Market-Moving News (Aug 6, 2026)

Strait of Hormuz -- Deal Framework Emerging

The US/Israel airstrikes on Iran (Feb 28, 2026) triggered Iran's closure of the Strait of Hormuz on March 4 -- the world's single largest oil chokepoint (roughly 20% of global LNG supply transits it). The IEA called it the 'largest supply disruption in history.' Brent crude surged past $105. An interim ceasefire in June temporarily restored flows; renewed July hostilities kept energy markets on edge. TODAY: reports emerged of a deal framework to formally reopen the Strait. Markets partially priced in resolution -- oil pulled back modestly, supporting equities and helping offset earnings-season carnage.

Fed / Rates -- Holding at 3.50%-3.75%, September Hike Risk Elevated

The Federal Reserve held its benchmark rate at 3.50%-3.75%. The July 2026 Monetary Policy Report shows June CPI at +3.5% YoY (core +2.6%). The Iran energy shock shifted market pricing from rate CUTS toward a possible September HIKE. Friday's July NFP is the crucial data point that will define whether the September 2026 FOMC meeting leans hawkish or dovish.

AppLovin (APP) -19.3% -- Q2 Revenue Miss + Weak Q3 Guidance

AppLovin's Q2 2026 results missed Street revenue estimates. The Q3 guide was also below expectations, signaling ad market spend deceleration amid macro uncertainty. As a high-weight Nasdaq-100 component, APP's 19% collapse was the primary QQQ headwind.

Honeywell Aerospace (HONA) -21.4% -- Sales Forecast Cut

Honeywell Aerospace lowered its full-year 2026 sales growth forecast, citing supply-chain disruptions and softening commercial aerospace demand. Largest single-day Dow decline today.

Fiserv (FISV) -12% -- EPS Guidance Slashed

Fiserv cut full-year 2026 adjusted EPS guidance from $8.00-$8.30 to $7.20-$7.40 and now expects organic revenue flat-to-down 1% (prior: +1% to +3%). AI disruption fears ('SaaSocalypse') compound the fundamental weakness.

Western Digital (WDC) -13% / SanDisk (SNDK) -7.5%

WDC's Q1 revenue forecast disappointed; SanDisk's Q4 FY2026 results fell short. Storage/memory sector faces a double whammy: supply glut fears resurfacing despite nascent AI-driven demand for high-capacity SSDs.

Salesforce (CRM) -3% -- Leadership Shuffle

Executive changes at Salesforce rattled investors. Cloud/SaaS names broadly under pressure as AI agent disruption threatens subscription-model economics.

Tech Stabilizers -- Semiconductors (SMH +0.39%), AI Capex Thesis Intact

NVIDIA and other AI chip names held gains; SMH outperformed. The AI capital expenditure narrative from hyperscalers (Microsoft, Google, Meta, Amazon) remains the key positive structural counterweight to near-term earnings volatility.

3. News to Today's Market Moves

SPY closed $769.40 (-0.05% vs prior close $769.79). QQQ closed $722.40 (-0.20% vs prior close $723.85).

SPY -0.05% (nearly flat): The S&P 500 essentially flatlined, reflecting genuine crosscurrents. POSITIVE: Hormuz deal news reduced energy risk-off; semiconductors (SMH +0.39%) showed AI-demand resilience; defensive sectors provided ballast. NEGATIVE: APP -19%, HONA -21%, FISV -12%, WDC -13%, CRM -3% -- earnings-driven damage was broad but concentrated in specific names. Dow's heavier decline (-0.75%) reflects the industrial-heavy weighting hit by HONA and CRM.

QQQ -0.20% (tech drags): The Nasdaq-100 lagged SPY primarily because of APP's outsized weight. Without APP, QQQ would have been flat-to-positive. Semiconductor strength (NVDA, AMD) partially offset ad-tech/storage declines. The Nasdaq Composite fell more (-0.47%) as smaller-cap tech names were weaker.

Magnitude check -- APP alone: APP's -19.3% represents a roughly -0.4% to -0.5% drag on QQQ depending on daily weighting. Hormuz deal speculation was the stabilizing force; without it, both indices likely close down 0.4-0.7% today.

LULU	Lululemon Athletica	-est.	Consumer Discretionary
CRM	Salesforce Inc.	-3.0%	Cloud SaaS

Monthly sector trends: AI-adjacent (PLTR), industrial automation (ZBRA), IT services (IT/Gartner), and healthcare diagnostics lead monthly gains -- durable spending on AI, defense/intel, and healthcare modernization. SaaS/cloud software, ad-tech, consumer discretionary underperform: the 'SaaSpocalypse' narrative (AI agents disrupting subscription SaaS) is now a significant sector-level overhang.

5. Next-Day Scenarios -- Friday, August 7, 2026

The calendar is unusually heavy: July NFP at 8:30 AM ET (binary macro event), 69 earnings releases (OKLO, VST, TTWO, WEN, UA/UAA), and ongoing Hormuz diplomacy. Below are the 4 main catalysts with IF/THEN scenario trees.

CATALYST 1: July Nonfarm Payrolls (BLS, 8:30 AM ET)

Consensus: ~95K-120K jobs added. Range of estimates: 83K-120K. June was a weak 57K. Unemployment expected at 4.2%-4.3%. This is the single most important data point for determining September FOMC direction (hike vs. hold).

IF BEAT (>140K, UE ≤ 4.2%): Labor market resilient despite Hormuz/energy disruption. Fed hawks gain credibility. September rate hike back on the table. SPY likely -0.5% to -1.5% (rate-sensitive sectors -- utilities, REITs -- lead declines). QQQ likely -0.8% to -2.0% (high-duration growth names reprice on higher discount rates). Dollar strengthens, 2Y yield spikes, gold falls, financials modestly outperform.

IF IN-LINE (90K-130K, UE ~4.2%): Goldilocks: labor stable but not hot enough to guarantee a hike. SPY likely +0.3% to +0.8% (relief rally, Fed 'on hold' narrative preserved). QQQ likely +0.5% to +1.2% (tech recovers from APP drag). Yield curve flattens modestly. NFP treated as non-event.

IF MISS (<70K, UE ≥ 4.3%): Labor showing real cracks -- possibly Hormuz supply-chain effects. SPY initially +0.5% to +1.5% on rate-cut hopes. QQQ +0.8% to +2.0% (growth premium re-expands). CAVEAT: If miss is severe (<40K or negative), 'bad news is bad news' recession fear could flip markets negative within 30 minutes of the open. Key signal: watch 10Y yield -- if yield falls AND stocks fall, recession narrative dominates.

CATALYST 2: Strait of Hormuz -- Deal Confirmation or Breakdown

A deal framework was reported today (Aug 6). Markets partially priced in resolution but remain skeptical given July's renewed hostilities after the June ceasefire failed to hold.

IF DEAL CONFIRMED / Strait Formally Reopens: Oil futures fall 3-6%. Energy sector (XOM, CVX, COP) down 1-3%. SPY +0.5% to +1.0% (inflation fears ease, consumer outlook improves). QQQ +0.5% to +1.2% (lower energy costs improve tech margins). CPI expectations fall, Fed September hike less likely, bonds rally.

IF DEAL COLLAPSES / Hostilities Escalate: Oil spikes. Energy sector rallies 2-4%. Broader market under pressure. SPY -0.5% to -1.5%. QQQ -0.8% to -1.5%. Stagflation narrative strengthens. Banks face NIM uncertainty as rate path blurs.

CATALYST 3: Friday Earnings -- VST (Vistra), TTWO (Take-Two), OKLO, UA/UAA, WEN

69 companies report Friday. VST (nuclear energy / AI data center power) and TTWO (GTA VI launch cycle) are most market-relevant.

IF VST BEAT on power purchase agreements: Nuclear/power plays remain hot AI infrastructure themes (hyperscaler data center power). Beat + raised guidance -> utilities/energy tech could surge 3-7%. OKLO benefits from read-through. SPY +0.2% to +0.5% from sector rotation into utilities.

IF TTWO BEAT on GTA VI bookings: TTWO +8-15%, gaming sector lifts. Moderate index impact (mid-cap in S&P). Consumer discretionary improves narrative.

IF TTWO MISS or UA/UAA Guide Cut: Consumer discretionary adds to market caution. Confirms softer consumer. If UA/UAA also misses, DTC retail narrative worsens. SPY -0.1% to -0.3% incremental.

CATALYST 4: Post-NFP Fed Commentary (Informal)

No scheduled FOMC speakers Friday, but a strong or weak NFP print will trigger real-time commentary from regional Fed presidents. Key: will September FOMC lean toward hike, hold, or cut?

IF HAWKISH commentary (citing resilient jobs = hike justified): SPY -0.5% to -1.0% additional pressure. Financials (banks) modestly outperform. REITs and utilities underperform. Tech growth premium contracts.

IF DOVISH commentary (inflation progress allows patience): SPY +0.5% to +1.0%, QQQ +0.8% to +1.5%. REITs and utilities significant gainers. Rate-sensitive dividend stocks rally.

Overall portfolio posture for Aug 7 open: Neutral-to-cautiously constructive. The NFP print is the binary event -- size positions conservatively heading into 8:30 AM ET. AI/defense (PLTR, VST) and industrial automation (ZBRA) are highest-conviction ideas, independent of the macro print. Avoid earnings-miss stocks (APP, FISV, WDC, SNDK) for 1-2 quarters until estimate revisions settle. If the Hormuz deal is formally confirmed Friday, trim energy longs (XOM/CVX) on the pop and rotate into consumer discretionary and transport names.
