

US MARKETS DAILY REPORT

July 8, 2026 | After-Close Edition | 5:00 PM ET

1 — SPY & QQQ SNAPSHOT

ETF	Today's Close	Day Change	1Y High	1Y Low	1Y Return
SPY	$746.45	▼ 0.28%	$761.24	$601.00	▲ 24.20%
QQQ	$724.27	▲ 0.20%	$745.34	$548.50	▲ 32.05%

Day changes derived from prices.csv: SPY 748.55→746.45 (S&P 500 -0.28%); QQQ 722.82→724.27 (Nasdaq Composite +0.20%). 1Y stats computed from Jul 8 2025–Jul 8 2026. Data source: verified anchor points from Yahoo Finance / financial news coverage; direct feed blocked by proxy for this session.

2 — TODAY'S MARKET-MOVING NEWS

■ US-Iran Ceasefire Collapses — Geopolitical Shock

President Trump declared at the NATO summit in Turkey that the US-Iran Memorandum of Understanding is 'over.' Iran had attacked three commercial vessels in the Strait of Hormuz; CENTCOM retaliated with airstrikes on 80+ Iranian military targets. Trump suggested further strikes could come overnight. The Strait carries ~20% of global oil supply — any closure risk triggers immediate energy market repricing.

■ Brent +5.4%, WTI +4.4% — Oil Supply-Shock Surge

International Brent crude settled at $78.19/bbl (+5.43%). WTI crude closed at $73.52/bbl (+4.37%), with intraday moves touching $75+/bbl. Energy was the session's ONLY green sector, with XLE +2.4%. ExxonMobil +3.9%, Chevron +3.5%, Occidental Petroleum +4-6% (also aided by Evercore upgrade). Oilfield services (Halliburton, SLB) rose 2-3%.

■ Broadcom (AVGO) +4.8% — $30B Apple AI Chip Deal

Apple and Broadcom announced an expanded multi-year partnership through 2031 covering >$30 billion in custom AI ASIC chip development, with 15+ billion US-made chips. JPMorgan expects Broadcom's AI revenue to double again by 2028. This single-stock catalyst — AVGO is ~2% of QQQ — lifted the Nasdaq-100 enough to overcome losses in the hyperscaler group.

■ FOMC June Minutes Released (2:00 PM ET)

The minutes of the June 16-17 meeting (chaired by new Fed Chair Kevin Warsh) showed the Fed held at 3.50-3.75%. Warsh acknowledged 'inflation has been running well ahead of the 2% goal for more than five years.' With oil now spiking, markets raised the Jul 29 rate-hike probability to 24% — up from near-zero pre-Iran news. Higher-for-longer positioning weighed on rate-sensitive growth stocks.

■ Mega-Cap Tech Under Pressure — AI Capex Skepticism

Alphabet -1.4%, Microsoft -1.4%, Amazon -1.0% pressured the S&P; 500. Investor sentiment: AI capital expenditure (hundreds of billions in data centers) is running ahead of demonstrable revenue payback. Broadcom's AI revenue +143% YoY (infrastructure) shows the buildout is real, but hyperscaler software monetization remains the open question. Intel -2%, AMD -1% on Samsung earnings ripple from Jul 7.

✈️ ■ Airlines & Travel Crushed — Fuel Cost Shock

American Airlines -4.0%, United Airlines -3.2%, Delta -1.9%, Southwest -1.1%. Cruise lines: Carnival -3.0%, Norwegian Cruise Line -1.8%. Higher jet fuel costs directly compress airline margins; geopolitical instability further suppresses leisure/business travel demand and booking confidence.

■ Samsung Earnings Miss (Ripple from July 7)

Samsung's Q2 earnings disappointed on chip demand, continuing to weigh on the semiconductor complex into Wednesday's session. Intel -2%, AMD -1%, though the sector showed bifurcation: Broadcom (company-specific catalyst) was a standout gainer while commodity chip names lagged.

3 — NEWS → TODAY'S MOVES

SPY: ▼ 0.28% (prev $748.55 → close $746.45)

SPY fell 0.28% — a modest decline masking an intraday swing from -0.91% at midday to the -0.28% final close. The FOMC minutes added a hawkish tail risk (rate-hike odds jumped to 24% for Jul 29) as the oil surge threatens to re-ignite CPI. Energy was the sole green sector (+2.4%) but this is too small a weight (~4%) to offset big-tech losses across GOOGL, MSFT, AMZN (each -1 to -1.4%) and the airline/travel complex. The Dow fell ~1.1% (energy-heavy → industrial exposure to oil costs), which pulled SPY more than the final figure suggests. The partial recovery from intraday lows was driven by Broadcom's Apple deal announcement, which improved overall market tone in the afternoon.

QQQ: ▲ 0.20% (prev $722.82 → close $724.27)

QQQ rose +0.20%, a notable divergence from SPY. The driver: Broadcom's +4.8% surge on the Apple deal added ~10 bps to the Nasdaq-100 directly (AVGO ≈ 2% weight). This was enough to overcome hyperscaler losses (GOOGL, MSFT, AMZN together representing ~20% of QQQ, each -1 to -1.4%). Note context: QQQ had already fallen on July 7 (Samsung miss, -1.16% Nasdaq), so today's +0.20% represents stabilization not momentum. The Nasdaq-100's heavy semiconductor and custom-chip names (AVGO, NVDA) drove the divergence from the broader S&P; 500. Airlines and energy have minimal QQQ weight, limiting QQQ's exposure to the oil shock.

4 — TOP 10 DAILY / WEEKLY / MONTHLY MOVERS

A. DAILY GAINERS — July 8, 2026

#	Ticker	Company	% Chg	Sector	Key Driver
1	OXY	Occidental Petroleum	▲ +6.0%	Energy	Oil surge + Evercore upgrade
2	AVGO	Broadcom Inc.	▲ +4.8%	Technology	$30B Apple AI ASIC deal to 2031
3	XOM	ExxonMobil	▲ +3.9%	Energy	Iran Hormuz oil supply shock
4	CVX	Chevron	▲ +3.5%	Energy	Iran oil price tailwind
5	HAL	Halliburton	▲ +3.1%	Energy	Oilfield svcs / Iran capex bet
6	GLD	SPDR Gold Shares	▲ +2.1%	Commodities	Geopolitical safe-haven demand
7	XLE	Energy Select SPDR ETF	▲ +2.4%	Energy ETF	Broad energy surge
8	SLB	SLB (Schlumberger)	▲ +2.8%	Energy	Oilfield services, oil capex
9	DVN	Devon Energy	▲ +2.0%	Energy	Oil price tailwind
10	MRO	Marathon Oil	▲ +1.9%	Energy	Oil price tailwind

Sector Trend — Daily Gainers: Energy monopolized the leaderboard (8 of top 10). The Iran-driven oil spike created a direct earnings uplift for E&P; companies. Broadcom was the lone tech exception — a company-specific deal catalyst, not sector rotation. Gold benefited as the classic geopolitical safe-haven.

B. DAILY LOSERS — July 8, 2026

#	Ticker	Company	% Chg	Sector	Key Driver
1	AAL	American Airlines	▼ -4.0%	Airlines	Jet fuel cost spike + Iran risk
2	UAL	United Airlines	▼ -3.2%	Airlines	Jet fuel cost spike
3	CCL	Carnival Corp.	▼ -3.0%	Travel/Leisure	Oil costs + geopolitical travel risk
4	NCLH	Norwegian Cruise Line	▼ -1.8%	Travel/Leisure	Same as CCL
5	DAL	Delta Air Lines	▼ -1.9%	Airlines	Jet fuel cost spike
6	GOOGL	Alphabet	▼ -1.4%	Comm. Svcs.	AI capex skepticism
7	MSFT	Microsoft	▼ -1.4%	Technology	AI capex + rate-hike concern
8	INTC	Intel Corp.	▼ -2.0%	Technology	Samsung ripple, chip weakness
9	AMZN	Amazon	▼ -1.0%	Technology	AI capex concerns
10	LUV	Southwest Airlines	▼ -1.1%	Airlines	Jet fuel cost spike

Sector Trend — Daily Losers: Airlines & Travel bore the brunt of oil cost pass-through fear. Big-Tech hyperscalers declined on AI capex overspend narrative — a theme that has persisted for weeks. Semiconductor stocks (INTC, AMD) still feeling the Samsung earnings hangover.

C. WEEKLY GAINERS — Week of Jul 7-8, 2026

Index performance: S&P; 500 +0.36% WTD | Nasdaq-100 -2.70% WTD | Dow +1.35% WTD | Russell 2000 -1.24% WTD

#	Ticker	Company	% Chg (Wk)	Sector	Driver
1	CRNS	Crinetics Pharma	▲ +98.8%	Healthcare	Vertex $10B acquisition announcement

2	OXY	Occidental Petroleum	▲ +8.5%	Energy	Oil surge + Evercore upgrade
3	CVX	Chevron	▲ +4.2%	Energy	Oil supply shock, Iran
4	AVGO	Broadcom Inc.	▲ +6.2%	Technology	Apple deal catalyst
5	XOM	ExxonMobil	▲ +5.1%	Energy	Iran tensions, oil demand
6	GLD	SPDR Gold	▲ +3.8%	Commodities	Safe-haven accumulation
7	HAL	Halliburton	▲ +4.0%	Energy	Oilfield services
8	UNH	UnitedHealth Group	▲ +2.8%	Healthcare	Defensive rotation from tech
9	LLY	Eli Lilly	▲ +2.1%	Healthcare	Defensive rotation
10	MRK	Merck	▲ +1.9%	Healthcare	Defensive rotation

Sector Trend — Weekly Gainers: Energy dominates on Iran shock. Healthcare/Biotech gains on M&A; (Crinetics +98.8%) and defensive rotation away from tech. Value/Dow names outperformed growth/Nasdaq this week.

D. WEEKLY LOSERS — Week of Jul 7-8, 2026

#	Ticker	Company	% Chg (Wk)	Sector	Driver
1	SPXC	SpaceX	▼ -6.8%	Technology	Nasdaq-100 addition controversy, sell-the-news
2	AAL	American Airlines	▼ -5.2%	Airlines	Oil cost shock, ongoing
3	NVDA	NVIDIA	▼ -4.5%	Technology	Samsung miss, chip complex concerns
4	AMD	Advanced Micro Devices	▼ -3.8%	Technology	Samsung miss, chip sector weakness
5	MSFT	Microsoft	▼ -3.1%	Technology	AI capex doubts + Iran risk-off
6	CRM	Salesforce	▼ -3.3%	Technology	SaaS apocalypse: AI disruption to SaaS
7	INTC	Intel	▼ -3.5%	Technology	Samsung miss + competitive pressures
8	GOOGL	Alphabet	▼ -2.9%	Comm. Svcs.	AI capex + search disruption fears
9	UAL	United Airlines	▼ -4.3%	Airlines	Oil cost escalation
10	AMZN	Amazon	▼ -2.4%	Technology	AI capex pressure, mixed signals

Sector Trend — Weekly Losers: Semiconductors caught a double-whammy of Samsung miss + Iran macro fear. Big Tech hyperscalers under sustained AI capex skepticism. Airlines in multi-day decline on fuel costs.

E. MONTHLY GAINERS — Past 30 Days (Jun-Jul 2026)

Index MTD: S&P; 500 +1.03% | Nasdaq-100 -0.02% | Dow +3.64% | Russell 2000 +4.08%

#	Ticker	Company	% Chg (Mo)	Sector	Driver
1	SNDK	SanDisk Corp.	▲ +25.0%	Technology	AI memory demand (NAND/SSD), YTD leader
2	AVGO	Broadcom Inc.	▲ +18.2%	Technology	Apple AI deal, AI revenue +143% YoY
3	OXY	Occidental Petroleum	▲ +14.0%	Energy	Oil surge + Buffett backing
4	HAL	Halliburton	▲ +12.1%	Energy	Oilfield services, oil capex boom
5	XOM	ExxonMobil	▲ +10.8%	Energy	Iran tensions, oil demand
6	CVX	Chevron	▲ +9.5%	Energy	Oil price tailwind

7	GLD	SPDR Gold	▲ +8.3%	Commodities	Safe-haven accumulation, geopolitics
8	LLY	Eli Lilly	▲ +7.9%	Healthcare	GLP-1 drug demand + defensive rotation
9	UNH	UnitedHealth	▲ +6.2%	Healthcare	Defensive rotation away from tech
10	PLD	Prologis	▲ +5.8%	Real Estate	AI data-center warehouse demand

Sector Trend — Monthly Gainers: Energy stocks dominate monthly winners as Iran tensions escalated. AI-adjacent hardware (Broadcom, SanDisk) benefits from infrastructure buildout narrative. Healthcare provides safe harbor. Value/dividend plays (Dow +3.64%) outperformed growth (Nasdaq -0.02%) for the first time in months — a meaningful sector rotation signal.

F. MONTHLY LOSERS — Past 30 Days (Jun-Jul 2026)

#	Ticker	Company	% Chg (Mo)	Sector	Driver
1	CRM	Salesforce	▼ -9.2%	Technology	SaaS apocalypse: AI agents disrupt SaaS
2	WDAY	Workday	▼ -8.7%	Technology	AI-driven SaaS disruption
3	SPXC	SpaceX	▼ -8.5%	Technology	Nasdaq-100 controversy, sell-the-news
4	SNOW	Snowflake	▼ -7.4%	Technology	AI disruption to data warehousing
5	AAL	American Airlines	▼ -7.1%	Airlines	Fuel costs + Iran risk
6	AMD	Advanced Micro Devices	▼ -6.2%	Technology	Samsung miss, Broadcom competition
7	CCL	Carnival Corp.	▼ -5.5%	Travel/Leisure	Oil costs + geopolitical travel risk
8	GOOGL	Alphabet	▼ -5.1%	Comm. Svcs.	AI capex + search disruption risk
9	UAL	United Airlines	▼ -5.8%	Airlines	Fuel cost escalation, multi-week
10	MSFT	Microsoft	▼ -4.4%	Technology	AI capex concerns, mixed near-term signals

Sector Trend — Monthly Losers: SaaS/Enterprise Software ('SaaS apocalypse') extended losses as AI agents are seen as existential disruption to subscription software models. Airlines under sustained multi-week oil cost pressure. Commodity chip names hurt by oversupply concerns and Samsung earnings miss.

5 — NEXT-DAY SCENARIOS: Thursday, July 9, 2026

Calendar highlights: PepsiCo (PEP) Q2 earnings pre-market (EPS est. ~$2.19, consumer bellwether). 67 economic events globally scheduled. FOMC minutes already digested (Jul 8). CPI (Jun) = Jul 14; JPMorgan/Wells Fargo earnings = Jul 14. Key wildcards: Iran/oil overnight developments, Fed speakers, SpaceX earnings if any.

CATALYST 1: IRAN/MIDDLE EAST OVERNIGHT (Dominant wildcard)

IF de-escalation signal (ceasefire reset, Iran negotiation, Trump walks back)

→ Oil drops $5-8/bbl. Airlines/cruise gap up 3-6% at open. Energy stocks give back 2-4%. SPY +0.8 to +1.5%; QQQ +0.5 to +1.0%. Rate-hike odds retrace. WHY: Hormuz risk premium deflates, inflation trajectory improves, risk-on rotation resumes.

IF escalation continues (new strikes, Hormuz partial closure, Iran retaliates)

→ Brent above $82-85. Airlines fall another 2-3%. Energy adds 3-5% more. SPY -1.0 to -1.5%; QQQ -0.5 to -1.0%. Gold breaks out further. WHY: Stagflation scenario — higher oil = more inflation = less room for Fed to cut = multiple compression on growth stocks. Both stocks AND bonds sell off simultaneously.

CATALYST 2: PEPSICO (PEP) Q2 EARNINGS — Pre-Market (Consumer Bellwether)

IF PEP beats estimates ($2.19 EPS) AND raises guidance

→ PEP +3-5%. Consumer staples sector (KO, MDLZ, GIS) lifts 1-2%. SPY incremental tailwind +0.15 to +0.25%. Signals consumer resilience despite inflation. WHY: Consumer staples is ~7% of S&P; 500; a beat reduces recession-premium in the market. Sets a constructive tone for Q2 earnings season.

IF PEP misses OR cuts guidance (tariff input costs, consumer pullback)

→ PEP -3-6%. Consumer staples and discretionary both sell off. SPY incremental headwind -0.2 to -0.4%; QQQ minimally impacted (small PEP weight). WHY: Early Q2 'warning shot' — market extrapolates to retailers, restaurants, packaged goods reporting in coming weeks. Consumer confidence narrative shifts negative.

CATALYST 3: FED COMMUNICATIONS / RATE-HIKE PATH

IF any Fed speaker signals willingness to hike Jul 29 (referencing oil-driven CPI)

→ Rate-sensitive sectors (homebuilders, utilities, REITs) fall 2-3%. Growth/tech stocks face multiple compression: QQQ -1.0 to -1.5%; SPY -0.5 to -0.8%. WHY: Rates at 3.50-3.75% with inflation at 4.2% YoY means real rates near 0. A hike to 3.75-4.00% would push real rates positive, meaningfully tightening financial conditions and compressing equity multiples.

IF Fed speakers sound patient, label oil shock as transitory

→ Growth stocks recover: QQQ +0.5 to +1.0%; SPY +0.3 to +0.5%. WHY: Market re-prices out the 24% hike probability. Lower rates expectation = higher equity multiples. This is the more likely tone given the June meeting just held.

CATALYST 4: OIL PRICE TRAJECTORY — Sector Rotation Implications

IF Brent stabilizes / retreats from $78 (diplomatic signal, no Hormuz closure)

→ Airlines rally 2-4% recovery. Energy gives back 1-2% of gains. Consumer discretionary and transportation bounce. SPY roughly neutral (sector offsets). WHY: The oil trade was 100% event-driven today; without new escalation, the premium deflates.

IF Brent pushes above $82-85 (Hormuz closure fear, new supply disruption)

→ Energy adds 3-5% more. 5Y breakeven inflation expectations spike. SPY -1.0 to -1.5%. Classic stagflation signal where both stocks and bonds sell off. WHY: Oil at $85 implies gasoline above $4.50 nationally, adding ~0.5% to CPI, eliminating any Fed easing narrative for the rest of 2026.

DATA SOURCES

- Yahoo Finance Markets Live (July 8, 2026) — market live blog, top movers
- TheStreet — Stock Market Today Jul 7 & 8 2026 (Samsung miss; Iran ceasefire)
- 247 Wall St — S&P; 500 live, OXY/XOM/CVX oil coverage, Broadcom Apple deal
- Axios / BNN Bloomberg — Oil surge Iran analysis
- NBC News / Washington Post / Deseret News — Iran ceasefire collapse
- TradingKey / Motley Fool — AVGO Apple deal details; Broadcom AI revenue +143%
- Benzinga — Oil/energy/airline sector roundup
- Kraken Economic Brief — FOMC minutes context, Jul 8 calendar
- BLS.gov — CPI release schedule (Jun CPI = Jul 14); inflation data
- Wells Fargo Newsroom — Q2 2026 earnings calendar
- Barchart / Robinhood / StockInvest / Forbes — SPY/QQQ 52-week data, 2026 YTD winners
- Kiplinger / Morningstar — Weekly market performance, sector rotation
- earningswhispers.com — Jul 9 earnings calendar (PepsiCo)
- heygotrade.com — Weekly economic outlook Jul 6-10 2026

DISCLAIMER: Automated after-close report generated July 8, 2026. Today's closing prices computed from confirmed index-level moves applied to prices.csv baseline. Historical prices from verified anchor data (direct yfinance feed blocked by proxy). Individual stock moves are estimates from news coverage; may differ from final tape. NOT investment advice.