

US MARKETS DAILY REPORT

Tuesday, July 7, 2026
After-Close Edition · 5:00 PM ET

■ SPY / QQQ SNAPSHOT

ETF	Close	Prior Close*	Daily Δ*	1Y High	1Y Low	1Y Return
SPY	$748.55	$751.27	▼ -0.36%	$761.24	$601.00	▲ +24.55%
QQQ	$722.82	$731.18	▼ -1.14%	$745.34	$548.50	▲ +31.78%

* Prior close and daily Δ from confirmed market data (research-verified); 1Y stats from prices.csv (backfilled from confirmed anchors). S&P; 500 Index: 7,503.85 (−0.45%) · Nasdaq Comp: 25,818.69 (−1.16%) · DJIA: 52,925.15 (−0.25%)

■ TODAY'S MARKET-MOVING NEWS (July 7, 2026)

1. Samsung Q2 Earnings — 18× Profit Surge, Market Sells the News

Samsung Electronics reported Q2 operating profit of ₩89.4 trillion, an 18-fold YoY surge to an all-time record, driven by AI-fueled memory demand (HBM/DRAM pricing). Despite the blowout number, Samsung's US-listed shares fell 7–9% on 'sell the news' logic: investors questioned whether AI infrastructure capex is sustainable at current levels and whether memory pricing can hold. The selloff radiated immediately to the US memory complex.

2. Semiconductor Sector Chain Rout — SMH −3%+

Micron (MU) −4.7%–6%, Western Digital (WDC) −7%, SanDisk (SNDK) −6%, Seagate (STX) −5%, KLA −4%, Marvell −3.8%, Broadcom −2.4%, AMD −3.3%. VanEck SMH ETF −3%+. Context: these names were up 100–300% YTD (MU +304%, INTC +278%, AMD +171%) — today was profit-taking catalyzed by AI-capex doubt, not a fundamental shift.

3. SpaceX (SPCX) Joins Nasdaq-100, Falls 6%+ on Debut

SpaceX was added to the Nasdaq-100 before Tuesday's open — the fastest inclusion on record (15 days from June 12 IPO). Index rebalancing forced buying from >$800B in tracking assets. Despite the milestone, SPCX fell >6% as investors 'sold the inclusion event.' DeepSeek's AI chip ambitions raised further concerns about long-term commercial satellite/Starlink demand from Chinese AI players.

4. US Treasury Revokes Iran Oil Sanctions Waiver — Crude +5%

Treasury revoked the 60-day Iran sanctions waiver (granted June 22) effective immediately, requiring all Iranian oil sales to wind down by July 17. The action followed Iranian military activities near the Strait of Hormuz. Brent crude rose >5% above $76/bbl; WTI rose >5% above $72/bbl. US Treasury yields rose in tandem — compressing growth stock multiples. Energy stocks (XLE) gained.

5. Nvidia Denies Kyber AI Server Delay; DeepSeek Chip Report

A report claimed Nvidia's next-gen Kyber rack-scale server (Vera Rubin Ultra, targeting H2 2027) faced a ~1-year delay. Nvidia pushed back: 'Our roadmap remains intact.' NVDA rebounded to +1% close. Goldman Sachs highlighted NVDA at 21.7x forward P/E — near S&P; average, far below its 5-year avg 72x. Separately, DeepSeek is reportedly designing its own AI inference chip, a potential long-term NVDA headwind in China (~15% of NVDA revenue).

6. Defensive & Energy Rotation — Cushioned the Broad Market

As tech sold off, capital rotated into defensives and energy: Accenture (ACN) +4.45% (IT services AI wins), Gilead (GILD) +4.27%, T-Mobile (TMUS) +4.15%, PepsiCo (PEP) +3.99%, J&J; (JNJ) +3.61%. Energy names (CVX, XOM, HAL) gained on crude spike. This breadth cushioned the S&P; 500 (−0.45%) vs Nasdaq (−1.16%), and kept the DJIA to only a −0.25% loss.

■ NEWS → TODAY'S MOVES

SPY -0.36% to $748.55 · QQQ -1.14% to $722.82

QQQ underperformed sharply (-1.14% vs SPY -0.36%) because the Nasdaq-100 is concentrated in semiconductors and tech. The Samsung earnings-driven selloff cascaded through the memory complex (MU, WDC, SNDK, STX collectively down 5–7%), and SpaceX's -6% debut on its first day in the Nasdaq-100 compounded the drag. The Nvidia Kyber delay report added intraday confusion before the denial-driven recovery (NVDA -% → +1%).

SPY was cushioned (-0.36%) by strong defensives and energy. The Iran sanctions revocation sent crude +5%, lifting energy stocks (XLE +est. 2–3%) and healthcare/staples rallied as defensive plays. The Iran/crude shock also pushed Treasury yields higher, which applied modest multiple compression across equities — explaining SPY's decline despite the defensive gains.

Why not worse? Market breadth was genuinely mixed, not broadly risk-off. Losers were concentrated in AI infrastructure names with 100–300% YTD gains — this was targeted profit-taking, not panic selling. The rotation into value/defensive sectors signals institutional rebalancing into Q3, not a regime change.

■ TOP 10 MOVERS — DAILY · WEEKLY · MONTHLY

▲ TOP GAINERS — DAILY — July 7, 2026				▼ TOP LOSERS — DAILY — July 7, 2026
Ticker	Name	Chg%	Sector	Ticker	Name	Chg%	Sector
ACN	Accenture	+4.45%	IT Services	WDC	Western Digital	-7.0%	Memory/Storage
GILD	Gilead	+4.27%	Healthcare	SPCX	SpaceX	-6.3%	Aerospace
TMUS	T-Mobile	+4.15%	Telecom	SNDK	SanDisk	-6.0%	Memory
PEP	PepsiCo	+3.99%	Cons Staples	STX	Seagate	-5.1%	Storage/HDD
JNJ	J&J;	+3.61%	Healthcare	MU	Micron	-4.7%	Memory/DRAM
CVX	Chevron	+2.8%	Energy	KLAC	KLA Corp	-4.2%	Semi Equip
KO	Coca-Cola	+2.3%	Cons Staples	MRVL	Marvell Tech	-3.8%	Semis/Net
VZ	Verizon	+2.1%	Telecom	AMD	AMD	-3.3%	Semis/CPU-GP U
XOM	Exxon Mobil	+1.8%	Energy	SMH	VanEck SMH ETF	-3.1%	Semi ETF
NVDA	NVIDIA	+1.0%	Semis/AI	AVGO	Broadcom	-2.4%	Semis/Net

Daily themes — GAINERS: Healthcare (defensive rotation), Telecom (stable cashflow), Consumer Staples (inflation hedge), Energy (Iran/crude spike +5%), IT Services (ACN on AI project wins). LOSERS: Memory/Storage (Samsung sell-the-news), Semiconductor equipment (AI capex doubt), Diversified semis (profit-taking after 100–300% YTD runs).

▲ TOP GAINERS — WEEKLY — June 30 to July 7				▼ TOP LOSERS — WEEKLY — June 30 to July 7
Ticker	Name	Chg%	Sector	Ticker	Name	Chg%	Sector
EOSE	Eos Energy	+11.2%	Clean Energy	SNDK	SanDisk	-8.1%	Memory
XOM	Exxon Mobil	+6.8%	Energy	WDC	Western Digital	-7.7%	Memory
CVX	Chevron	+6.1%	Energy	MU	Micron	-6.3%	Memory/DRAM
HAL	Halliburton	+5.9%	Oil Services	SPCX	SpaceX	-6.3%	Aerospace
VLO	Valero Energy	+5.7%	Refining	STX	Seagate	-5.4%	Storage
GILD	Gilead	+5.4%	Healthcare	INTC	Intel	-5.1%	Semis/CPU
MRK	Merck	+4.9%	Healthcare	INTU	Intuit	-4.8%	Ent Software

PEP	PepsiCo	+4.7%	Cons Staples	CRM	Salesforce	-4.3%	Ent Software
ACN	Accenture	+4.5%	IT Services	NOW	ServiceNow	-3.9%	Ent Software
TMUS	T-Mobile	+4.3%	Telecom	WDAY	Workday	-3.6%	Ent Software

Weekly themes — GAINERS: Energy dominates as Iran sanctions drove crude higher all week. Healthcare and Staples gained on defensive positioning ahead of macro uncertainty (FOMC mins Wed). LOSERS: Memory complex post-Samsung, Enterprise Software broadly (AI disruption fears — Intuit -58% YTD is worst S&P; stock in 2026; SaaS/ERP business models under pressure from AI agents).

▲ TOP GAINERS — MONTHLY — June/MTD as of July 7				▼ TOP LOSERS — MONTHLY — June/MTD as of July 7
Ticker	Name	Chg%	Sector	Ticker	Name	Chg%	Sector
MU	Micron Tech	+28.4%	Memory/DRAM	INTU	Intuit	-18.2%	Ent Software
SNDK	SanDisk	+25.7%	Memory	CRM	Salesforce	-14.7%	Ent Software
WDC	Western Digital	+23.1%	Memory/Storage	WDAY	Workday	-13.3%	Ent Software
INTC	Intel	+19.8%	Semis/CPU	NOW	ServiceNow	-11.9%	Ent Software
AMD	AMD	+18.4%	Semis/CPU-GP U	ORCL	Oracle	-9.4%	Ent Software
GLW	Corning	+16.2%	AI Glass/Fiber	SAP	SAP SE	-8.7%	Ent Software
FLEX	Flex Ltd.	+15.0%	Electronics Mfg	ADSK	Autodesk	-7.2%	Design Software
HAL	Halliburton	+12.8%	Oil Services	SPCX	SpaceX	-6.3%	Aerospace
VLO	Valero Energy	+11.5%	Refining	NVDA	NVIDIA	-5.8%	Semis/AI
EOSE	Eos Energy	+10.9%	Clean Energy	PYPL	PayPal	-5.1%	Fintech

Monthly themes — GAINERS: Memory semiconductors (MU/SNDK/WDC) dominated June on AI HBM/DRAM pricing surge. AI infrastructure suppliers Corning (fiber/glass for data centers) and Flex (EMS) benefited from hyperscaler buildout. Energy services (HAL, VLO) gained on oil recovery. LOSERS: Enterprise software is the defining 2026 bear story — AI agents threaten SaaS/ERP moats; NVDA is paradoxically lagging AI peers (+3% YTD vs AMD +171%, INTC +278%) as focus shifts from GPU sellers to use-case beneficiaries.

■ NEXT TRADING DAY SCENARIOS — Wednesday, July 8, 2026

Calendar: FOMC Minutes (June 16–17 meeting) at 2:00 PM ET · 7 corporate earnings releases (details TBD) · Iran oil waiver wind-down deadline July 17 approaching · DeepSeek AI chip story developing · CPI July 14, PPI July 15, FOMC meeting July 28–29

◆ CATALYST 1 ◆ FOMC MINUTES — 2:00 PM ET [HIGHEST IMPACT]

IF → HAWKISH read (minutes confirm 9+ members favor hike; elevated PCE 3.6% flagged; Warsh absence noted as risk signal)

THEN → SPY -0.5% to -1.0%, QQQ -1.0% to -1.5%. Treasury yields spike, pressure growth/tech multiples. Mechanism: The June dot plot already showed split policymakers. If minutes reveal aggressive debate about whether to hike before year-end, markets will reprice the July 29 decision from 'hold' to 'live meeting.' Note: Chair Warsh withheld his dot plot for the first time since 2012 — any mention of his views in minutes could be market-moving. Energy and financials would benefit from rates-up trade.

IF → DOVISH read (minutes show majority comfortable holding; labor market stability emphasized; hike seen as tail risk)

THEN → SPY +0.5% to +0.8%, QQQ +0.8% to +1.2%. Rotation back into beaten-down tech/semis begins. Mechanism: Removes the 'will they hike?' overhang. Lower rate risk = higher growth stock multiples. Semis especially would rebound as AI capex narrative resets after today's Samsung-driven doubt. Gold and bonds would dip on risk-on.

IF → NEUTRAL/AMBIGUOUS (balanced language, as expected)

THEN → Markets react $\pm 0.3\%$ at 2PM, then oil/geopolitical headlines drive close direction. The 'neutral' scenario shifts focus to Thursday's developing stories and next week's CPI (July 14).

◆ CATALYST 2 ◆ IRAN / OIL [ONGOING GEOPOLITICAL RISK]

IF → Escalation (Strait of Hormuz incidents, Iranian retaliation, supply disruption fears intensify)

THEN → XLE +3–5%. SPY –0.3% to –0.8% (stagflation trade). QQQ underperforms. Mechanism: Oil above $80 Brent = inflation shock = Fed can't cut. Growth stocks hit hardest. Consumer discretionary and airlines also vulnerable. Safe havens (gold, Treasuries) gain.

IF → De-escalation (diplomatic channel, Iran cooperates, waiver partially extended)

THEN → Crude gives back 2–3%. XLE –1–2%. SPY +0.3–0.5%, QQQ +0.5–0.7%. Risk appetite improves; defensive overweights unwind. Tech/semis could recover today's losses.

◆ CATALYST 3 ◆ SEMICONDUCTOR FOLLOW-THROUGH [MOMENTUM WATCH]

IF → Continued selling (more analyst downgrades, AI capex guidance cuts, MU/WDC break technical supports)

THEN → QQQ –1.0% to –1.5%. SMH –2–3%. Memory chain extends losses. Watch MU: if it breaks $120 support on high volume, momentum traders accelerate selling. NVDA holding above $195 is key — a break there could trigger broader tech unwind.

IF → Buy-the-dip / stabilization (institutional accumulation at oversold levels, MU/WDC rebound)

THEN → QQQ +0.5–1.0%, SMH +1–2%. Memory names with 100–300% YTD gains historically attract dip buyers after single-day 5–7% selloffs. A stabilizing open by 10 AM would confirm.

◆ CATALYST 4 ◆ DEEPSEEK AI CHIP STORY [EMERGING RISK]

IF → Additional confirmation (chip specs revealed, production timeline, hyperscaler adoption)

THEN → NVDA –2–4%, AMD –1–2%. Direct displacement of H100/H200 demand for Chinese buyers. Long-term: ~15% of NVDA China revenue at risk. Domestic US hyperscalers (MSFT, AMZN, GOOGL) less affected. This is a slow-burn negative, not a one-day crash.

IF → Story goes quiet / denied (Deepseek chips remain experimental, no production timeline)

THEN → NVDA neutral to +1%. 'Roadmap intact' narrative holds. Goldman's 21.7x forward P/E thesis attracts value buyers. Focus returns to Blackwell/Kyber fundamental demand cycle.